To Whom It May Concern:

I have been working with Traci Greenhow and her team for about 8 years now and would never work with anyone else as I have been spoiled forever by the consistent and superior service they have always provided to my clients and me.

In any business transaction it is always important to choose the right business partner(s) as they are a direct extension of you. Traci Greenhow, her colleagues and Fidelity are that "right" business partner.

Traci is a very seasoned and talented escrow officer, far beyond her years. If you have been in this business for any length of time, not only is this extremely significant, it can mean the difference between getting a transaction completed or not.

The transactions I do are usually extremely unique and complicated and most officers would be unable to assist me in getting them across the finish line. Traci can transition from a simple transaction into the very complex with little ease and that of a true veteran in her business.

Traci is very hard working with wonderful business ethics she "always" goes far above and beyond to accommodate her clients. I have had nothing but rave reviews and too many compliments to count over the years.

I consider myself fortunate and blessed to have the opportunity to work with someone like Traci!

I would recommend her to everyone and anyone and do!

Sincerely,

Karen Blandini
